Should you wish to provide details of any initiatives that you feel are particularly outstanding, or that have resulted in improved gender equality outcomes in your workplace, please enter this information below. (As with all of the questions in this questionnaire, any information you provide here will appear in your public report.)

The quantitative analysis in this report indicates areas of pay differences by gender for manager and occupational categories, especially in total remuneration.

Preliminary analysis indicates these variations relate primarily to the low participation of females in operational and trade roles which attract higher total remuneration for the following reasons:

• Many operational employees are in remote and/or difficult locations which are more likely to attract higher base salaries and total remuneration;

- Operational roles are much more likely to attract overtime, shift and site allowances;
- Functional roles (including Safety, Finance and Human Resources) which have higher Female participation are more likely to be located in offices that are not remote, and do not enjoy overtime, shift allowances; and
- Significant skills shortages in some trades and engineering roles over recent years that have resulted in higher pay for those roles, which are reported at the same level within the quantitative WGEA report.

We further note that low female participation for such roles is a common issue affecting organisations in our sector.

Downer is developing a common approach to levels/grades of work across the Group and this will continue in 2015/16. It will provide an important reference point for analysing and addressing potential areas of pay equity, as current position titles cannot be relied upon for that purpose.
